

Much more than an enclosed porch. A Lincoln® Solarium adds quality space to your home.

When most people think of adding a sunroom or solarium, they imagine a lightweight covered porch attached to the side of a house. At Lincoln® Solariums, we take a different approach. We think a solarium should be more than additional square footage. We believe a solarium can be something that adds a spectacular lifestyle and design centerpiece to your home. That's why our solariums are designed to be fully open to the interior of the home. It's also why we build our solariums to look and feel as if they were part of the original design.

A complete package.

Our solarium packages come with all the quality building materials required to complete the project. There's no running around town looking for supplies for you or your contractor. That also means that our solariums are easier, and faster to build. Because each component has been carefully selected, you'll be assured that the finished solarium will last for the lifetime of your home.

Make your solarium as unique as you are.

We offer our solarium in three different architectural styles. That way, you can choose the "profile" that best suits the unique style of your home. We also offer options such as ventilation systems, quality aluminum doors and windows, and a variety of wood finishes and exteriors. We'll even provide customized engineering plans to assure perfect integration with your home's style and structure.
